What's in the wind

- Tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. . . SW plays McKinley at St. Louis U. High in its last league game. See page 4.
- Tuesday . . . mothers of freshmen will lunch in the cafeteria at 1:30 p.m. and later will be taken on a tour of the school.
- Thursday . . . tryouts for the senior play to be held after school in the aud under the direction of Mr. Van Laningham.

Mizzou invites FTA there on Education Day

Members of the Future Teachers of America throughout the state have been invited to join with the College of Education, University of Missouri, Tuesday, March 11, in an all-day observance of Education Day. SW representatives, together with all visiting FTA members, will tour the campus in the morning. At 10:45 a.m. they will gather in Jesse Hall for the first session.

After lunch a second program, including a speaker, special music and the Verse Speaking Choir of the high school in Columbia, is scheduled. A coffee and social hour in the Student Union will follow.

Highlight of the day will be a 6 p.m. banquet, at which awards will be presented to several outstanding teachers in the state and honors in Mizzou's College of Education will be announced.

At the first meeting this semester of the SW chapter, Feb. 10, members elected the following officers: Dorothy Gerber, president; Sandy Britton, vice-president; Carmeline Strano, secretary; and Barbara Dickman, treasurer.

Following the business meet-

Pioneer sales hit 978; 372 to go!

"Sell the Pioneer!" is the cry of 41 Pioneer reporters and salesmen. This semester's campaign, which continues until March 14, is sparked with individuality by the cartoons displayed in the front corridor case.

Such characters as Charlie Brown, Turf, Killer, Lucy telling passers-by that the Pioneer is "your best bet" were "borrowed" from the daily papers by Tony Browne, co-editor, and John Casey, staff artist.

The witty signs and clever captions, sparking these cartoons with individuality, are the work of SW's best signmaker, Mr. Chervenka.

When this issue went to press Tuesday, 978 subscriptions had been purchased. "Last semester after much hard work $1023 worth of subscriptions were sold, but the Pioneer still needed an additional hundred dollars to finish publication," explains Sue Naylor, co-editor. "That's

• March 10 . . . more senior play tryouts after school in the aud.

• March 10 through 14 . . . pre-report card tests.

• March 11 . . . Open House a preliminary aud session at 7:45 after which parents and relatives may consult with teachers.

• March 18 . . . Special School Tax election.

ing, Dr. Jennie Walbert, former administrator in the St. Louis school system, presently serving as Director of Education at Washington U., addressed the Group.

During the spring semester the SW group will study the life of Miss Lillie R. Ernst, pioneer St. Louis teacher and administrator, for whom the SW chapter is named. A tour of Washington U. and a picnic at the home of the sponsor, Mr. Pinkus, are also on the agenda.

Scout Citizenship Day Eagle Scouts take over city

Twenty boys from SW stepped out of their roles as ordinary students Feb. 10, and, for the day, took over the positions of some of St. Louis' leading citizens.

The boys were not only excused from school, but they were also treated to a Statler Hotel luncheon at which Senator Stuart Symington was the main speaker. Mayor Tucker was also present.

Why were these 20 so honored? They belong to the Eagle Scouts of St. Louis, who observed Scout Citizenship Day, Feb. 10 through these activities.

It may seem that these boys were unduly fortunate—having these diverting experiences while their classmates were slaving in school. But to an Eagle Scout, who must have earned why we hope this semester's subscriptions go far beyond our goal of 1350."

Groups that were 100 per cent as of last Tuesday are: Mr. Pfaff's, under Mary Revelle, salesman, and Senior A, under Dave Bartholic.

"Hello Day" committee, made up of SC officers and a representative from each semester, listens to tryouts for today's aud session.

'Hello' auds today bring back 'Roaring Twenties'

The "Roaring Twenties" will be relived on SW stage today during two Hello Day auds, one at 9:15 a.m. and a repeat at 10:25. According to first period classes, floors one and two will see the first showing; the last two floors, the second.

SC President Jay Baldwin and Vice-President Gary Gruenewald will emcee. The orchestra will open with "Andalucia," and Carole Burrs and Sam Lirely will present a piano and organ duo, "Autumn Leaves."

Dances booked are by Karen Knoblauch and Adrian Drapalik, flapper Julie Caudle in a Charleston and Carol Streicher and Judy Hoffman as two high class hoboes. For variety, twins Dave and Diane Armstrong, will demonstrate their skill with the batons and SW's popular senator, Rich Gephardt, will return.

Varied vocal numbers

Vocalists include Berl Bays, Sue Sisk, the Heartbeats (Carol Spellmeyer, Bev Smith and Linda Dembeck), The Echoes (Lonnie Graves and Jim Nahmeson) with their guitars, and Lynn Wiesehan, Sheila Fletcher, Margo and Barbara Milford exclaiming "Get a Job!" with the help of Brent Baker on the drums and Ted Popowchak on the sax. And the Early Risers will barbershop to "Brown Eyes" and sing "26 Miles."

The Instrumentals will play "The Swinging Shepherd," while The Contemporary Jazz Quartette will offer "Burnie's Tune." The Boop-boop-see-doopers will inform everyone in Roaring Twenty style that "We Wanna Be Loved By You." Between acts Pioneer staff members Tony Browne, Sue Naylor, John Casey and Dennis D'Amico, will present "Man on the Campus."

A Cappella, singing selections from "Oklahoma," will close the show.

Vince Pavia's band

Hello Day tags will be sold for 5 cents in the advisories this morning and, by popular vote of the students, Vince Pavia's Band will provide dancing music in the gym during the lunch periods.

All these acts, with accordionist Shirley Schmitz, the Indian Dances, pianists Susie Spieldoch and Mary Spudich, and the Girl Early Risers added, will be repeated the evening of March 21 at the semi-annual Band Benefit Show.

Enrollment still mounts . . . 1735 is mid-year total

SW continues to grow. Last September the enrollment totaled 1710, the highest in 10 years. This semester 1735 students have registered, and as usual the girls outnumber the boys 916 to 819.

Freshmen, 555 strong, lead the list. Sophomores are next with 490, then seniors with 354. Juniors trail with 335. By semester numbers are as follows: twos, 361; fours, 308; eights, 241; sixes, 223; nujays, 194; threes, 182; sevens, 113, and fives, 112.

SW, like Cleveland and Beaumont, this semester has a number of freshmen rated as advanced major learners. They

Faculty ahead by one as four come, three go

SW has gained two new teachers this semester, Miss Kirkpatrick and Mr. Burnett. Two others, Mrs. Koch and Mr. Mengerson, have returned after six month leaves of absence. The number on the faculty, however, has increased only by one, to 73, since three teachers, Mrs. Fallert, Mrs. Sporlich and Mr. Brew have left.

Foods department grows

Miss Margaret Kirkpatrick, a new foods teachers made necessary by the growing number in the department since the ultra-modern kitchen has been added to the building, comes to SW after teaching at Soldan and Central. She attended Stephens College and the University of Missouri, Chicago and New York. During her spare time she enjoys collecting cook books.

Mr. T. S. Burnett, a new mathematics teacher, attended three schools, the Universities of Washington, Missouri, and Houston. He has spent the last seven years in the St. Louis Public School System.

Counselor returns

Mr. E. F. Mengerson, on leave last semester, is replacing Mr. Brew, who retired as sophomore counselor. Mr. Mengerson spent last semester at school, but not as a teacher. He attended Washington U. as a pupil for work toward his doctor's degree in education.

Mrs. Anna Koch, mathematics teacher, also returning after six months' absence, comments about her lengthened vacation, "I had a good time and caught up on my reading." Mrs. Fallert substituted for Mrs. Koch last semester.

are taking such advanced subjects in their first semester as English 3, biology 1 and algebra 2. They will need to accumulate 42 credits to graduate instead of the usual 34.

PTA . . . March 18

"America Is Proud of Its Schools" is the theme of the next PTA meeting set for March 18. The program, under the direction of Mrs. A. W. Scheetz, will feature Mr. Dan Schlafly, Board of Education member, who will discuss the new three-track program for freshmen.

SW adjusts its nujays

Welcome, nujays, to the best high school in the city. Permit us to help you get adjusted by analyzing your feelings when you came into SW a couple of weeks ago.

- S—scared. That's natural, it happens to everyone.
 - O—offended. The first word spoken to you was "Nujay."
 - U—uneasy, because everyone knew you were a nujay.
 - T—terrified. Of what? Seniors? No cause for alarm.
 - H—humble, because you are surrounded by V.I.P.'s.
 - W—worn out, looking for a way to the fifth floor.
 - E—elevator pass. Yours is no good—the elevator is locked.
 - S—split programs. Don't tell us you fell for that gag about a half day of school.
 - T—triumph. What do you mean? Oh, at least you're out of that silly old grade school!
- If these were your thoughts and problems, it just proves that you are a true SWerner. Now that you are adjusted, you are ready to join clubs and participate in the many activities which will make you a part of SW.

Men can work together

Brotherhood Week closed Saturday. Its purpose was to demonstrate that people of different groups can work together effectively as friends.

Sunday, Feb. 16, SW and Vashon choirs shared the spotlight as the two choruses joined forces to open Brotherhood Week in a ceremony at the Art Museum. The voices blended thrillingly in "Battle Hymn of the Republic," "No Man Is An Island" and "America, the Beautiful."

Many SWerners, along with students from all other high schools in the city, spent last Monday at the annual Intergroup Youth Conference, designed to bring boys and girls of different races together and to combine their resources and talents to plan a single project, each in his own field of interest. As always, results were gratifying.

Question: WHAT TO YOU IS MOST CONFUSING AT SW? (Asked in nujay advisories.)

Rita Beckerman, Gary Dreher, Mike Broughton, Judy Janson, Roger McHenry, Sandra Raso: The numbering of the rooms.

Richard Valle, Paulette Periclaro, Charles Hollman, Sharon Franke, Bill Nipper, Roberta Mayer, Beverly Washeck, Judith Bullock: The traffic on the stairs. There are just too many people!

Edward James, Sandra Walgren: The bell schedule. No reason.

Margaret Himmelspach, Art Voepel: The lunch room system. You have to wait in line for food; then, when you finally get it, you have very little time left to eat it.

Don Beardale, Bill Brewer: Why can't we go to our lockers during lunch periods? (Editor's note: To keep from disturbing the classes in session.)

Diana St. Jean: After I've found the correct stairway and the correct floor, how to find the right direction to go to find the room number I'm looking for.

These are only two demonstrations of the truths that men can live together harmoniously even though of different races — that men can work and plan together, even though they are of different creeds. If we are intelligent enough to accept these conclusions, we will do our part to end the prejudices that are so alien to the great documents—the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution—which form the cornerstone of our nation.

Braving snow pays off

by Patti Wolf

My parents and I had braved the ice and snow Feb. 1 to come to the American to see "Much Ado About Nothing."

As the lights dimmed, the actors ran up onto the stage through the audience and the play began. The story took place in a Texan-Mexican setting, instead of the traditional Italian. However, nothing else was changed from the original.

The audience applauded excitedly as the stars, Katherine Hepburn and Alfred Drake, appeared. Costumes were beautiful and richly embroidered, with the men's clothes as elaborate and colorful as the women's. All the actors did their lines beautifully and the play was alive and sparkling. It was fascinating to watch the chorus change the scenery right before our eyes.

Seasoned actors Katherine Hepburn and Alfred Drake, cast in the lead roles of Beatrice and Benedick, projected the wit and brilliance of Shakespeare's lines to perfection. Aside from these two, the American Shakespeare Festival Company, which originates in Stratford, Conn., is a young troupe that has done well in its first year's productions.

After the play was over and the cast had taken about five curtain calls, we reluctantly returned to the reality of ice and snow.

'Angels' rescue snowbound cars

by Diane Fridley

Mush, you huskies! not Alaskan dogs but "parking lot angels," Bud Campbell, Bill Frimel, Jerry Hess, Curt Lischer, Bob Pfluger, Mr. Close, Mr. Young and Mr. Hatfield, who pushed the faculty cars out of the snowbound parking lot on that famous Friday.

After these huskies had pushed everyone else out, they got in their own car and found . . . you guessed it . . . they were stuck.

P.S. . . . Mr. Hatfield sends his appreciation to Miss J. Mueller for the use of the bright red wool scarf to warm his ears.

It's a switch... girls compete with cowboys

by Linda Hoyt

The American cowboy has grown up. He now kisses the girl instead of his horse. No longer is Junior pop-eyed; now it's his big brother.

It used to be that on Friday night my date started at 7. Not anymore. Loverboy calls—I say 7—he says 8:30; he can't miss "Colt 45."

Then comes Saturday night and I'm supposed to go to the big dance. I say 7—he says 9. He says he can't miss "Have Gun, Will Travel." Then he tells me I'm lucky I'm going at 9 because he's missing "Gun-smoke." Sunday night is out because of good old "Maverick."

You might think I've got it made Monday night but "Restless Gun" and "Wells Fargo" seem to get better and better. Tuesday night, think he'll pick me up at my girl friend's house? Think again. With such attractions at home as "Sugarfoot," "Wyatt Earp" and "Broken Arrow," what do you expect of a guy?

Wednesday night's just full of thrillers. There's "Wagon Train" and "Tombstone Territory." Thursday I have only Zorro to compete with, and suddenly I'm back to "Cold 45."

Still, we girls never say die. Only one thing could make us do that—that's to have the man of our dreams slip and call us Marshal Dillon.

ters of ceremonies, is a new television program for high school students.

Some from SW have already appeared on the show, and others can too, if they contact Ellen Fitzpatrick, semester seven, our "spotlight girl."

SW has its own Einstein, which under the name of Dick Pinckert, semester eight.

Last spring Dick starred at SW in the National Mathematics Contest, an achievement for which he proudly displays a lapel pin. And Dick was only a six when he took the test. SW ranked 29 out of 1098 schools—second in the state of Missouri.

Among the talents of Sandy Britton, Jana Moore, Georgia Dunlap, Karen Heggen, Janice Watson, Dorothy Gerber, Barb Dickmann, Barb Barman, Karen Boswell and Kay Farthing is waiting tables, as they demonstrated at the faculty luncheon between semesters.

Land of Luxury

Eights happy after invasion of aud

All hall, mighty eights! With no resistance, our forces have invaded that land of luxury, the aud. Aside from minor setbacks (Awright, wise guy, try and write your program card on the arm of those seats!), last reports reveal all are happy in their new home.

How about a round of applause for our great new Student Council officers, President Jay Baldwin, Vice-President Gary Gruenewald, Secretary Carol Hahn and Treasurer Marilyn Mantle.

Speaking of buttons, Gordon Link, Shirley Ballowe, Calder Ehrmann, Brenda Calvert, Tom Boone and Georgia Lampros have been seen parading with their new senior buttons in front of nujay advisories.

Terrific bargain! For a very low price you can ride to school in your very own blue and white convertible! Air conditioned! Interested? For $65 this 1950 Allstate scooter can be yours! (What did you expect, a Cadillac?) For further information see Jordan Eggers in Miss Reilly's advisory.

Cagers close league play tomorrow vs. McKinley

SW cagers will wind up their league schedule tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 against McKinley at St. Louis U. High. The Goldbugs topped SW by one point in the Christmas tournament this season; therefore, the Steers will be out for revenge.

Last Saturday at St. Louis U., Beaumont shattered SW's hopes for the Public League title as they overtook the Steers in the final quarter for a 55-45 victory. Bill Gebhart and Don Spencer scored 33 points.

SW has a 7-2 record in league, which is the highest the Steers ever came out under the coaching of Don Ashley.

League success

In league play the Steers defeated Sumner, 69-67, in a thriller at Hadley on Feb. 15. Four SW'ners scored in the teens: Gruenewald, Spencer, Graves and Gebhart.

The Steers turned down Central on Feb. 8, 61-52, at St. Louis U. High in a league game that was a real team victory.

Third in tournament

SW's first opponent in the De Andreis tournament at De Andreis was Central. The game was close down to the wire with Gruenewald scoring a three point play in the last seconds. The three points gave SW the edge in a 52-50 victory.

Top-seeded Chaminate took the Longhorns the following day, 67-59. SW gave Chaminate a good battle but ran out of gas in the last period.

On Jan. 30, SW took third in the eight-team tournament as they defeated Laboure, 59-53. Spencer and Gruenewald tallied 41 of SW's 59 points.

Three January league victories
Six-foot-five Gary Gruenewald stole the show at St. Louis U. High in a 56-54 victory over Roosevelt, Jan. 25. Gary sank a long shot with five seconds remaining to break the tie.

A week before, the Cagers beat Hadley Tech coasting to a 70-57 win at St. Louis U. High.

Don Spencer and Bill Gebhart led SW to a 70-61 victory over Soldan on Jan. 11 at St. Louis U. High.

Non-league troubles

Roosevelt lost to SW in a non-league game, 64-60, on Feb. 18, as Gruenewald and Spencer dumped in 21 points apiece.

On Feb. 12 Cleveland defeated SW for the second time this year, 73-53. The game, played on Cleveland's stage, started out close but Cleveland came on strong during the last half.

The Cagers came from 10 points down in the last quarter to overtake Affton at Affton, 63-62, Jan. 21. Four men were in double figures: Spencer, Gebhart, Gruenewald and Berving.

St. Louis U. High outscored SW in every quarter as they white-washed SW, 75-50, Jan. 13, on St. Louis U. court.

Old vesp new GAA chief

GAA officers for the spring semester were elected at an overflow meeting after school on Feb. 4. The new president is Carol Hahn, who, as last semester's vesp, proved she has what it takes.

Last semester's secretary, Susie Jones, was promoted by vote to vice-president. At the awards and in January she received the senior trophy as the outstanding senior girl who has held an office, has had perfect attendance and has maintained an A or B average.

The secretary's job went to Phyllis Duffett, who will keep busy recording GAA points for each member. Phyllis, a GAA member since she was a nujay, plans to become a physical education teacher.

If you want to see a girl who is loaded, (with money, that is) look up Sandy Evaneck, new GAA treasurer, who is also treasurer of the senior class. Listed at the top of her favorite sports is volleyball. This blond-haired cheerleader also hopes to become a phys ed teacher.

At the same meeting 12 new volleyball captains were chosen. They are Marilyn Preswheat, Judy Cloak, Carol Ohsiek, Sammie Boone, Judy Mueller, Charlotte Webster, Carolyn Hughes, Dianne Lockwood, Sandy Mueller, Dale Schoenbeck, Donna Bloomquist and Mary Ann Schmidt.

cheerleaders, elected Feb. 14. First of all, on Feb. 5, came the preliminaries. From the 71 girls that tried out, all but 15 were eliminated. Ellen Fitzpatrick, cheerleader from last year, automatically made the stage.

These peppy misses have met rigid requirements, maintaining good academic and citizenship ratings, good standing with the office and membership in the Cheerleader Club for at least one semester.

"It is really a thrill being elected co-captains!" exclaim Judy Baker and Ellen Fitzpatrick. Judy and Ellen have much in common. Both are sevens of Miss Gibbon's advisory; both show their active interest in sports by their membership in GAA, Cheerleaders Club and the Pep Club.

Fans rate tops in sportsmanship

In a recent Missouri State High School Activities Association rating, SW learned the fighting Longhorns weren't the only ones responsible for the championships last November.

The sportsmanship of SW fans, students and coach was rated excellent by the football officials who officiated at the games. The final rank of the school is an average of those ratings.

The system of rating used was: 1—excellent, 2—superior, 3—average, 4—below average, and 5—very poor. SW's ratings were:
Preparation for games.....1.35
Sportsmanship of students 1.50
Sportsmanship of fans.....1.50
Sportsmanship of coach.....1.28
Respect shown officials.....1.28

Neither snow nor ice stops SW trackmen

Neither snow nor ice nor chilly winter winds can keep SW trackmen from daily conditioning drills. Since the organizational meeting on Feb. 4 practice has been going on in first floor corridors under the direction of Coaches Beezley and Merchant.

Only seven lettermen are included in the lineup: Senior Captain Jerry Gleason, Junior Captain Jerry Mulkey, Jerry Hirsch, Rich Green, Dave Dodge, Ron Perkins and Eddie Hewlett.

Last year at the Maplewood Relays, the track team captured its first championship in the history of the school. Gaining the points at Maplewood were Jerry Gleason and Rich Green in shot put, Wayne Taylor in the mile, Don Jones in the high jump, Rich Witte in the pole vault, and Al Ulbrich, George Galakatos, Bill Rupp and Don Jones in the shuttle hurdle relays. The Steers tallied 25 1/3 points in the open division to win the crown.

The following is the season schedule:

- Mar. 24—SW vs. Cleveland
- Apr. 10—SW vs. Roosevelt
- Apr. 17 and 19—Maplewood Relays
- Apr. 22—SW vs. O'Fallon
- Apr. 26—Relay Carnival
- Apr. 29—SW vs. CBC
- May 6—District Prelims
- May 8—District Finals
- May 14—Junior Prelims
- May 16—Junior Finals
- May 20—Field Day Prelims
- May 23—Field Day Finals

Shooting Stars

Graves gets big break, proves he's worth it

Six feet, 145-pounds, big blue eyes—that's our cager in the spotlight. He's only a sophomore, but he's proving he has what it takes. Who is he? Jim Graves, naturally, identified on the court by his jersey number 3.

Says Jim, "It was luck that I made the varsity squad, and I'm glad and very proud. The team had a hard time getting started because of injuries; that was my big break."

About his brief career on the varsity, Jim says with a big smile, "My biggest thrill came when I scored 19 points against Soldan—and we won!"

The Christmas Tournament caught him sleeping on the job. To keep himself in robust health, Jim tried sun lamp treatments. Unfortunately, on the first try he relaxed so completely that he fell asleep. The resulting sunburn kept him out of the tournament, but he did sit in the stands and root for the team because "seeing your classmates cheering for you is Jim Graves . . . sophomore . . . basketball star in the making. the best encouragement the team can have."

Hunting rabbits with his three brothers and his father is another of Jim's favorite sports on weekends and holidays. Jim's buddies are Bob Casen, Jack Peacher and Bill McNabb. As for girls—he loves them all.

He has another two years at SW, so his plans for after graduation are still vague. Keep your eye on this fellow—Jim Graves—he's a basketball star in the making.

$100,000 bonus boy Nicholson training in Arizona

by Judy Sievers

It's "batters up" time in Scottsdale, Arizona, and ex-SWerner Dave Nicholson is swinging with the best of them. Scottsdale, located about five miles from Phoenix, is the spring training grounds for the Baltimore Orioles, of whom Dave became a member on Jan. 26, when he signed with the fabulous bonus of over $100,000.

While we here in St. Louis have been shoveling our way out from under the snow, Dave has been basking in 70 degree weather playing baseball; and, besides that, he's getting paid $7,000 a year for doing what he likes best.

Of course, when the 1958 baseball season opens up, his real work will begin. He will first play on one of Baltimore's five minor league teams, but before this season ends we hope he will be playing in the major leagues.

St. Louisans will have to travel to see Dave play, for Baltimore, an American League team, will not come to St. Louis. His parents and younger brother, John, now a four at SW, won't have too much trouble getting to see Dave play; they can drive one of the two 1958 Pontiacs Dave received for signing and so graciously gave his dad. He has the other one with him in Arizona.

Dave says he signed with Baltimore because they have a smaller farm club than most other major league teams, and in past years they have had a weak outfield, and he has a good chance to go immediately into right field.
